A JUNE 1905

Not since the memorable days of June, 1856, have the people of this section had such a close call at the hands of Jack Frost at this season of the year. Friday and Saturday nights last the mercury got recklessly low in the tube, and as a result much damage was done to growing plants, potatoes and garden truck generally. The loss sustained by the gardeners on the lower lands was much heavier than on more elevated ground, the destruction, as to gardens, in some localities, being virtually wholesale. The valley north and south of town suffered greatly, as did also sections of the Crabbottom and Back Creek valleys. In and near Monterey the frost cut some queer capers: In some gardens, scattering hills of beans would be taken and the others left; plants in one garden would be injured while just across the fence another man's planting would escape entirely.

Where cultivation had been done the day before, the damage was more marked, hence the lazy or negligent trucker proved to be the one in luck.

At the time this is written the county has not been heard from as a whole, but it is safe to say that wheat and corn crops were not seriously hurt.

The mercury dropped to the dangerous point of 38, and it is rather a marvel that the destruction was not more complete.

RECORDER HONOR LIST

New And Renewal Subscriptions Since Our Last Issue

New—H. B. Shopper, Mt. Grove, Va. Mrs. Harriet Ryder, Marlington, W. Va.

Renewals—Dr. W. R. Siron, McDowell; C. B. Simmons, Lonefountain.

Resolutions adopted by McDowell Camp of M. W. A.

Edward Ashby Hammer may be characterized as a man of energy and public spirit. In recent years scarcely an enterprise has been launched in Stonewall District without the touch of his hand. His unrelenting toil for the sake of his business and his loved ones doubtless had much to do with his early decease. As with his work, so too with his large family his devotion was marked. As a neighbor and officer in our camp he was true to every duty.

Therefore since it has pleased Almighty God to remove from our midst this esteemed neighbor for many years our excellent banker, be it resolved:

First—That we bow in submission to the will of him who hath done all things well.

Second—That we keenly feel this neighbor's loss.

Third—That we express our sympathy for his widow and children. We rejoice that the society is able in part to provide for their physical needs. We earnestly pray that the God of all comfort will be a loving heavenly Father to them; that he will protect their moral interests with a fatherly care; that spiritually he will supply all their needs according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus; that in every way they may be assured that the eternal God is their refuge and underneath are the everlasting arms.

Fourth—That these resolutions be spread upon our minutes, and read at the memorial service on June 9, 1912, and that a copy be furnished to the bereaved family and to the Highland Recorder.

Adopted by McDowell Camp No. 13527 Modern Woodman of America on May 31, 1912. Attest:

V. H. Starbuck, Clerk.

Don't fail to read this convincing letter of Mrs. Geo. C. Burns, of Warm Springs, Va.:

"There is no one knows but myself, how I suffered with my eyes and head. In fact my eyes were so sore and my head ached so badly that it was almost unbearable. I had several eye doctors and M. D. doctors to prescribe for me, but with no results. I just thought I would lose my sight, and I was a nervous wreck until about 3 weeks ago, when Dr. S. T. Davis came to our house. I consulted him about my eyes and he fit me with glasses and advised a treatment, and I must say that in three weeks time, under his advice, my eyes were cured entirely well. I can now go without my glasses, and I have not had the headache since. My general health has improved and I can highly recommend Dr. Davis to be an expert in his profession. Any one who has eye trouble or need glasses will make no mistake in seeing him.

Yours Truly,
Mrs. Geo. C. Burns,
Warm Springs, Va.,
April 27, 1912."

Sudden Death.

This community was shocked to hear of the sudden death, on Thursday morning, of Mrs. Jacob L. Shumate at her home near New Salem on the Bull Pasture River.

She was in her usual health and had gone to the cow lot to assist with the milking. Her son going a little later found her unconscious, and death ensued soon after she was taken to the house.

Mrs. Shumate was a daughter of the late Henry Seybert, of St. Creek, and three of her father's family—H. H. Seybert, and Miss Jimima, of St. Creek, and Mrs. Wm. Jones, of Doe Hill, survive her. She leaves, of her immediate family, an aged husband and six children: John and Mrs. Annie Wilson, of Illinois; W. S., of Staunton, Mrs. Lockridge, of McDowell, Robert of the same neighborhood and Lon with whom she lived. Mrs. Shumate was one of the best women in the county, a statement that we believe to be true as to every relation in life—mother, wife, neighbor, friend. It was a pleasure to visit her home, which was the synonym of hospitality. She was a member of the Methodist Church, and her life was crowned by all virtues of the sincere, earnest christian.

State Farmers Defend Lime Bill.

Charles V. Meredith and John Pickrell, of Richmond, have been retained by the Va. State farmers' Institute to defend the suit brought by the lime burners of this State to defeat the operation of the convict lime bill. The announcement that these attorneys would aid the Attorney-General in upholding the validity of the act by the last Legislature was made yesterday by Westmoreland Davis, of Loudoun, president of the institute.

Mr. Davis further said that he presumed the convict lime board, which is charged with the execution of the law, would put it into effect unless prevented by an order from the courts. He regards the recent proceedings as the consummation of the lime burners of the suggestion made during the session of the Legislature.

"It seems to me," said Mr. Davis last night, "that manufacturers who are in many instances selling low grades of lime at exorbitant prices place profits first and are loath to forgo the revenue upon which they have fattened at the expense of the farmers. Virginians have been forced to pay for lime as high as $10 the ton, for the equivalent of which ground limestone the Illinois farmer pays 90 cents and $1.20 the ton, while the Iowa farmer secures it at 25 cents the ton, when bought in forty-ton cars.

"The feeling on this subject is intense, as was shown by a large majority given the bill when it was passed. This feeling is not likely to be assuaged by the combined efforts of the lime burners to defeat this legislation."—Times-Dispatch.

The new law relating to vital statistics went into effect on June 1 and the state authorities have sent out most of the blanks to be used in carrying out the provisions of the act. The principle duties imposed fall on physician, justices of the peace—who are made registrars—and undertakers.

In rural districts the cooperation of the people will be very important in cases of death, because no undertaker is allowed, under penalty of fine, to bury any person until certain information can be gotten, such as age, parentage, place of death and cause thereof, and friends of deceased persons, in remote sections, will insure prompt burial and aid the authorities by having this information in hand, so that when the undertaker applies to the justice or his deputy for a permit to bury, the required questions can be answered. It will take some time to get the new law to working smoothly in many sections, but it will be well for all who have an opportunity to inform themselves and be in readiness to aid in the important work. There are provisions made for burial in isolated cases, where no physician was present, and make the report within ten days, but only in extreme cases. It is our purpose to publish the new act and give such information as will tend to prevent embarrassing delays and confusion in complying with the provisions. Meantime, it will be well to prepare answers as to place of birth, parentage, age, place and cause of death, so that they can be given when asked for at any time after the death occurs.

ROMANTIC MARRIAGE

One chapter in what appears to be a pretty romance came to the attention of Montereyans on Tuesday evening.

Coming by automobile from Staunton, a nice-looking couple registered at the hotel as W. R. Thompson and Athie Thompson, of Winston-Salem, N. C., and the former began making anxious inquiry as to how to reach the Dry Run section of West Virginia.

It developed later that he had come to take a bride whom he had never seen, and knew only by correspondence, and the lady of his quest was Miss Nelson of the section before mentioned.

The party proceeded on their way Wednesday morning, and at high noon were married by Rev. Mr. Ferguson.

They reached Monterey on the return trip about 4:30, and soon left for Staunton, apparently happy as newly-weds could be.
